CREATE A PERSONAL BOOKSHELF

Favorite a book to add it to your personal bookshelf. Books 100L below to 50L above your child's reported Lexile® measure provide an ideal level of challenge. But readers can enjoy books in a much wider range depending on their interests and motivation.

GET BOOKS

After selecting a book in Find a Book, select "Find on Amazon" or "Find in Library" to locate your book.

i TOOL TIP!

SELECT BOOKS

The reading level of a book is only one factor to consider when helping your child select a book. Be sure to consider your child's interests, motivation and maturity, the book's themes and ideas as well as whether your child is reading for learning or pleasure.

What are Lexile measures?

Lexile measures describe a student's reading ability and are often reported on state testing results that might look like "900L". Lexile measures range from below OL for beginning readers and texts to above 1600L for advanced readers and texts. You can find your child's Lexile measure in year-end state test reports as well as from other classroom tests and reading programs. Or, ask your child's teacher. It's not necessary to know your child's Lexile measure to use Find a Book.
